ALGONQUIN COLLEGE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION REJOINS COLLEGE STUDENT ALLIANCE

The Algonquin College Students' Association has rejoined the College Student Alliance after a four-year absence. Cassandra Meldrum, a director with the Algonquin S-A, feels joining the C-S-A is a strong move since the C-S-A has the ear of the provincial government. The C-S-A – an organization of 22 other student councils – is also pleased with the return, with one of their vice president's describing Algonquin's S-A as a provincial and national leader in policies, procedures, and structure. Algonquin students will not pay any extra fees for joining C-S-A.
